SPEAKERS

Professor Emeritus Dr. Derek Gray

McGill University, Montreal, QC, Canada

Dr. Derek Gray is a Professor Emeritus at the Department of Chemistry, McGill University, Canada. His research group was the pioneer in reporting the formation of liquid crystalline cellulose derivatives, and the preparation and self-assembly of cellulose nanocrystals to give chiral nematic suspensions and ordered films. These unexpected properties have led to wide interest in the production and application of nanocellulosic materials.

Dr. Rezal Khairi Ahmad

Chief Executive Officer, NanoMalaysia Bhd

Dr. Rezal Khairi Ahmad is the Chief Executive Officer of NanoMalaysia Bhd. He holds a PhD in Nanotechnology, Electronic/Electrical Engineering from London Centre for Nanotechnology, University College London. He is one of the key persons for nanotechnology development in Malaysia.

Mr. Kamarulzaman Kamaruddin

National Nanotechnology Centre, MOSTI

Mr. Kamarulzaman's main task is to strategize the areas of Nanotechnology to be developed and innovated in Malaysia. He also implements the National Nanotechnology Policy for coordination, organizing and consolidating National Nanotechnology R&D activities, facilities and support services.
